

WILLIAM YORK.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 168.]

MARCH 5, 1840.

Mr. CARR, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of William York, ask leave to report:

That it appears the petitioner has applied to the proper department, claiming a pension under the law of 1832, and has been refused his claim, on the ground that the services he rendered were in the nature of domestic police, and not provided for by that law.

On examining the evidence accompanying the petition, your committee find that the petitioner commanded a partisan troop of horse, at different times, for more than one year, in North and South Carolina; that he volunteered his services, and, though he acted as the leader of a partisan corps, he was nevertheless attached to the command of superior officers; that he was in several battles, in one of which he was wounded severely; and from the nature and importance of his services, the committee are of opinion that he is entitled to a pension, and herewith report a bill for his relief.

Blair & Rives, printers.

WILLIAM YORK.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 168.]

MARCH 6, 1840.

Mr. CARR, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of William York, ask leave to report:

That it appears the petitioner has applied to the proper department claiming a pension under the law of 1832, and has been refused his claim, on the ground that the services he rendered were in the nature of domestic police, and not provided for by that law.

On examining the evidence accompanying the petition, your committee find that the petitioner commanded a partisan troop of horse, at different times, for more than one year, in North and South Carolina; that he volunteered his services, and though he acted as the leader of a partisan corps, he was nevertheless attached to the command of superior officers; that he was in several battles, in one of which he was wounded severely; and from the nature and importance of his services, the committee are of opinion that he is entitled to a pension, and herewith report a bill for his relief.

Blair & Rives, printers.